EROTICA 2003 by Andrea

Another self-imposed assignment (well one of us Girls has to do it) was to cover the recent Erotica fair at Olympia. With over 25,000 visitors expected, it was going to be a daunting task for any girl. Our game plan was to go early on the first day which allowed us to visit the stands, interview and fire off some photos before the crowds became a little too overwhelming.

Fun – Well it was obvious that there was going to be a proliferation of scantily clad girls (and boys!), so not to be too out done I opted for a black leather mini and 6" stilettos. With our press passes around our necks, myself and my photographer Don Allen ventured around the various trades and "other" stands.

Just before the first (of many no doubt) stage shows we came across two of the Boys from "The Fantasy Boys" - would I like to go backstage and meet all of these topless hunks! – Well what "girl" could resist – but hey! – I had a job to do here – "sorry lads – maybe later". After a pose with my two perfect gentlemen and another with the dancers from the welcoming team Don had spotted, we set off to find some suppliers and stands that would be of interest to us girls and our Lavender Pound.

Favourites – Many of the displays and stands were familiar favourites; none more so than the lads from Divine Shoes (WJ Brookes) – Steve and Stan who are always welcoming to all "girls" and who supply sizes and wicked heels that suit our needs. Their stand also featured a number of Sale Items that's always nice to find.

As to be expected there was a great number of leather and PVC clothing outlets – but for us Midnight Fashions topped our list when we found Sizes up to 18 on their stand. Definitely sizes that are suited to many of us "girls" – and not just "stick insects".

Others known to us through the invaluable Tranny Guide Listings included Facefacts who are known for their wonderful wigs, Michelle Fashions – a little bit of everything daring, Fantasy Shoes, Ultimate Shoes and Miss Behaviour.

We also came across Modamerica clothes from Italy who we met at the London Edge fashion fair which featured in an earlier edition of Utterly Fabulous.

Finds – As well as meeting old friends, one of the main purposes of reporting on such an event like this – is to find some new services, contacts and suppliers that maybe up until now are unaware of our "girl" market and the Lavender pound.

Amidst the many PVC and leather outlets was Lovebomb, who specialised in that clingy lycra wet look material. Now I have to say that usually I would pass this material by as for me it shows too many (unwanted) bumps etc. but they had a range of black wet look adorned with designs and reflective foil that caught my eye. For my love of mini skirts this was fine, but what made this stand particularly interesting was that besides the minuscule female tops matching the skirts – there were also matching male tops (know where this leading!) so tops of sizes and styles that could be adapted for our needs. Definitely a future here.

Another find amongst all the lingerie this time – was Bare Essentials that produced tights, body stockings and everything sheer galore in sizes (and prices) that are worthy of a mention. (They have a website for ordering which I have subsequently checked out).

Finally for really upmarket, beautifully decorated (and tight) made to measure corsets we came across Velda Lauder Designs – definitely worth wearing on the outside!

Overall – Erotica was well worth a visit and indeed a recommended day out for any "girl" who can cope with crowds. As to be expected many of the stands had numerous scantily clad models promoting – well almost anything! – But so many looked just so bored – clearly a bit of TGirl competition and fun is needed to spice things up. (Possibly a lead for next years article!).

JOINING THE MILE HIGH CLUB by Jodie Lynn

Miss Terri Amy May decided that she was going to travel home from our Edinburgh weekend dressed. When we arrived at Edinburgh airport and we checked in at The British Airways desk, the check in guy asked to see Terri's passport. I made a bit of a joke to lighten the situation by saying "She doesn't look the same in her passport, she's got shorter hair and she's not wearing any make up." The guy just laughed and took it all in good humour. Terri loved every minute of travelling home on the plane en femme and I just thought "Good on her". She had realised one of her dreams....how many of us can truly say that?
