The WayOut Tranny Guide

Introduction by Vicky Lee

Since 1993 I have published, annually, twelve editions of 'The Tranny Guide'. The 12th was the last I published in 2004. Followed by Transgender AtoZ in 2005 which was backed by an interactive web site. However I have been asked throughout my two year break to return to the original format - so here then is your Mini UK Tranny Guide which I researched and checked during October 2008. This is by no way an exhaustive listing but aims to give you a good starting point to find shops, services and places to go in most areas. We also try to cover the harder to buy essentials. Those listed especially welcomes trans customers and are comparatively well attended. For more services we recommend asking those listed in our guide, about their local area.

Editorial Comment ...

It greatly surprises me that in comparison to those 1993, pre internet, pre mobile phone days the scene, in London at least, appears to have shrunk. Despite the fact that in 1993 it was so hard to find your way around the scene, (a scene that had not yet even named it self 'transgendered'), there appeared to be more opportunities. We had Ron Stormes, The Philbeach, Trans-mission, all specifically providing nights for trannies and respectful friends. We had dressing services, Annes at The Philbeach, and Linda Edwards in the docklands.

Of course, as then, much of the gay scene has always offered a friendly if somewhat bemused welcome to trannies. Now in London, QX and Boyz magazines are available free in all Soho bars and are available on-line from their web sites with details of all the London opportunities. Although many gay promotions encourage colorful glamour drag, most, still, are puzzled by convincing girl next door, heterosexual trannies and granny trannies. To "come out" as gay, it appears, is still easier and better supported than coming out as transgendered - yet I believe there are a growing number of gay guys understanding themselves to be transgendered as well as gay and exploring their own gender as well as sexuality.

I am certain, that if only for the reason that the population of London has grown, that there are far more people in the city with trans feelings and needs. Maybe the reason for the apparent invisibility of the London TG scene, is that the internet has helped a new generation of young 'trannies' to find networks, confidence, grooming and styling advice and virtual experiences. With this informed background their first "real life - out of the closet" adventure is more likely to be a good positive experience. With a network of friends from the internet like "The Angels" a trip out to a "straight" venue are no longer daunting. Good size Tgirl groups can be seen, looking their fabulous best, in classy venues around town. Services such as 'The Boudoir' and 'Adam & Eve' support such trips charging a fee for make-up and styling help, transport and group escorting. Jodie and her "Boudettes" have an extensive, year round, diary of events including west end theatre, top class restaurants, national events within the TG scene as well as public events like ladies day at Royal Ascot. Jodie even takes groups overseas to NYC and Miami. So it appears that the sky is the limit for today's confident trannies.

We have been told for years that most trannies are heterosexual, dressing not to attract sex with men, but to exercise their femininity while their sexuality stays as fixed or as fluid as any non trans person. However over the last few years there appears to be a growing number of Tgirls visiting swingers clubs which are offering a welcome to T-Girls along side the opportunity to have sex in the venue with all comers. These swingers clubs appear to have a growing TG following. Another aspect that has influenced this phenomena is that there are now far more guys actively searching out T-Girl company. This is a new young, good looking, confident breed of admirer who may not talk or think in terms of bisexuality but knows what he wants.

Meanwhile The WayOut Club in London every Saturday remains a safe, fun, place for all. A safe home for all Trans people, partners, family, as well as male and female admirers, where sex and drugs are not allowed on the premises. Where dancing, flirting, and entertainment, make for a memorable night out. Where Tgirls from all around the planet make an effort to visit. Where social intercourse is very much encouraged and where thousands have found their way out of the closet and where some have found life change, loved ones and life partners.

I can turn you into the woman of your dreams, spend an hour or a whole day with me and fulfill your wildest dreams!

I also sell breast-forms, wigs, make-up, in fact everything to turn you into a feminine beautiful woman.

Enjoy a make-up lesson then dress and see which of my many wigs suit you, a set of nails to complete the look and have photos taken to keep as a reminder of your perfect day. I can also do accompanied shopping trips or lunch and even have a flatlet for overnight stays (or even longer) also available for evening changes and storage.

I have a hair and beauty salon where you can enjoy the pleasure of having your hair set and permed, full or part body waxing and other treatments to pamper and relax you. Ask for details of my new Maid Training Days. If there is something that you would like that has not been covered here please ask me?
